Paper presented at the « Congresso Internazionale Documentazione Informazione Scientifico-Tecnica », Rome (Italy), February 2-11, 1964.

Brussels, January 1964 — 19 pages.

Since the documentary activity of the Center for Information and Documentation (CID) of the Euratom Commission is based on the use of scientific and technical abstracts, it was found necessary to draw up an inventory of journals and of services which publish abstracts in the nuclear, par nuclear and border-line fields.

After the parameters of the information necessary for the exact assessment of the value and usefulness of these publications had been determined, a survey was launched on an international level. The substantial success of this survey led to the creation of a special «Synoptic» card-file enabling the fullest use to be made of the assembled data from every angle of documentary research.

The planning and mode of operation of this card-file are described in detail. A bibliography of sources used appears at the end (Annex I), as well as a model card (Annex II).
