In the fly family Scathophagidae (Diptera), the genus Nanna Strobl, 1894 was introduced as “(D. Nanna Becker) flavipes Fall. Zett. 2059, 6332, SS.11! Becker!” (Strobl 1894: 78), with Cordylura flavipes Fallén, 1819 as its type species. See Michelsen (2001: 323–326) for correct authorship and validity of the name Nanna Strobl, 1894 as senior synonym of names proposed by Becker (1894) in the same year.

More than 70 years later, J. Birket-Smith described the genus Nanna in the Arctiidae, now Erebidae, Arctiinae, as “Nanna gen. nov.”, with type species Ilema diplistica Bethune-Baker, 1911, by original designation (Birket-Smith 1965: 35–36).

Obviously, the genus-group name Nanna Birket-Smith, 1965 is a junior homonym of Nanna Strobl, 1894. This homonymy has hitherto been overlooked (e.g. Watson, Fletcher & Nye 1980: 121), but was recently brought to my attention by Andreas Manz (Saarbrücken) for which I thank him heartily.

Nomenclatural and taxonomic acts

According to Articles 52.4, 53.2 and 60.3 of the International Code of Zoological Nomenclature, I propose herewith Arctiananna De Prins, nom. nov. as the replacement name of Nanna Birket-Smith, 1965, with the same type species, Ilema diplistica Bethune-Baker, 1911. Together with that species, also the following species-group names need to be recombined with the new genus-group name (the names are given in alphabetical order as in De Prins J. & De Prins W. 2011–2021):

Arctiananna eningae (Plötz; 1880) comb. nov. (Gnophria), and its synonym Arctiananna montana (Birket-Smith, 1965) comb. nov. (Nanna), synonymized by L. Kühne (2005: 490).
